ULCERATIVE COLITUS

This testimony is from a father who has a 19-year-old who suffers from Ulcerative Colitus (UC). Only persons who suffer from this condition will really understand what I am writing. I discovered Mangosteen through a website at a radio station that was advertising the 3-step plan. I joined and ordered and received my first case mostly because there was information in a pamphlet concerning UC. We received this case 10 days after my son stopped using prednisone. He had just got over a major flair. At the time, we received the Mangosteen he was beginning to flair. Four to five times a day passing watery stools, loss of appetite and loss of color in the skin. We received the Mangosteen on Wednesday evening. He took one ounce. Thursday, he took one ounce in the morning and one in the evening. Now only sufferers can relate to this. On Friday, he only had one bowel movement and it was so solid that he actually had to strain to move it. This was his first solid stool in two years since the onset of his ailment. I told him to keep me informed about his condition for at least 3 weeks.

About one and half weeks into taking Mangosteen he had a small flair, 3 watery stools. He took an extra ounce of Mangosteen. The next day he was normal with no bowel movements and from then on till now he has one normal bowel movement a day. His appetite is back and so is his skin color. He also has reported no cramping. I sure hope this helps others with UC.

UTI

I had a really bad UTI last spring. I took 2oz every 3-4 hours, but it didn't work as fast as I wanted it to, so I decided to take 4oz every 2 hours with plenty of water & cranberry juice. It worked like magic. After 3 dosage (12-hour period) the pain was gone completely. I didn't have to take the antibiotic from the doctor.

UTI

Yes, I don't know that you would say I am young but I'm not elderly either. I'm 45 and have had great results in relation to urinary tract infections. I used to get them about once a month. I haven't had a full-blown infection since being on the Mangosteen juice. If I feel an infection coming on I will raise my dose of juice from 1 ounce 3 times a day to 2 ounces 3 times a day. I will be sure to drink more water and cut out caffeinated drinks and I usually take one cystex (bought over the counter). That has taken care of it so far. It used to be once I felt an infection coming on I was in trouble....and a lot of pain.
